

In Death's Drama Join JFK At Rest

Pictures on page A2

By Robert H. Johnson, Jr.

DALLAS, Tex. — AP — Like the president with whom their fate became inextricably linked, the hero police officer John F. Kennedy, was buried yesterday in the solemn majesty of a nation's grief in Arlington National Cemetery.

The policeman went to his rest on a gentle hilltop in south Dallas, in a grave still unmarked with a stone.

And the Marxist was buried almost furtively in simple ceremonies in a Ft. Worth grave yard.

The president, the authorities said, was shot to death on Friday by Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, who drifted into the marine corps and out with an undesirable discharge, into Soviet Russia with a desire to change his citizenship and out when he pleaded with the

When bore the banner played itself to the Chief. To the steady beat and roll of drums and the mournful tolling of church bells, the caisson rolled up Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House along the historic route the young president traveled after his inauguration less than three years ago.

As the caisson turned the corner by the Treasury Building a woman broke into a high pitched wail, saying: "President Kennedy is gone. Oh Lord, Lord." She kept up her cry but the words trailed off and soon were indistinguishable.

At the White House, Mrs. Kennedy and the two Kennedy brothers left their limousine while the caisson paused for a few minutes at the north portico.

As bagpipes played, the procession moved slowly from the executive mansion and the mourners began an eight-block walk to St. Matthews Roman Catholic Cathedral.

With her head held high and her black veil draping her face, she walked with the Kennedy brothers at her side. President and Mrs. Johnson, next in line, were surrounded by secret service men.

Ruby closed his club, the Carousel, Friday night. It was reported last night at 7 PM, with the owner held in jail without bond, the Carousel was swinging.

Only a handful of relatives watched Oswald's inexpensive coffin lowered into the grave in Ft. Worth. They were his mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald; his two daughters, 22; their two small daughters, and his brother, Robert Oswald of Denton. They wept.

The Rev. Louis Saunders, executive secretary of the Ft. Worth Council of Churches, conducted the brief services, agreeing to do so when, apparently, no other minister would for the avowed Marxist, probable atheist.

Four hundred persons, police officers in sharply creased uniforms behind the small family, were admitted to the small Baptist church for Tippit's funeral. Outside another 1,000 stood silently in the warm November afternoon.

Tippit's widow, slender, blue eyes and brunet, with her three children, turned away at last, too.

"God, oh God!" she said. In his cell in county jail, Jack Ruby waited his trial. For him, too, District Attorney Henry Wade insisted, death waited.

In Silent Darkness, Jackie Takes Flowers To Grave

By Frances Lewine

WASHINGTON — AP — John F. Kennedy, Jr., yesterday brought tears to the eyes of millions of television viewers when he saluted the flag draped over the casket of his father as it moved slowly from the St. Matthews Cathedral to the Arlington National Cemetery.

But shortly before midnight she slipped out of the White House and rode through the darkness to place a sprig of flowers on her husband's new grave.

It flickered on the silent hillside during her brief visit. Her brother in law, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, was at her side. Only hours earlier, world dignitaries crowded the area during rites for the fallen leader.

Some of Mrs. Kennedy's plans for the new way of life she must seek for herself and her two children may be made known soon.

Among the foremost questions are how long she will remain at the White House, where she will make her new home and what will become of the White House school she set up for daughter Caroline.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, who will be in the city for the funeral, is expected to arrive in Washington on Saturday.

Officers of the general services administration found no one on the red tiled roof. But Officer David M. Randall said he had seen a man with what looked like a weapon yesterday from a tower of the adjacent old postoffice building.

The search apparently began when an IRS telephone operator called with a report someone had telephoned that a man had been seen on the roof.

The search centered on a

ing.

President Lyndon B. Johnson's address to a joint session of congress will be carried live tomorrow at 9:30 AM on television station KCRW, channel 3, and on radio station KFRB.

She married him in 1953, when he was a young senator from Massachusetts. And when Kennedy became president in 1961, Mrs. Kennedy played as the wife of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

Bier

When bore the banner played itself to the Chief. To the steady beat and roll of drums and the mournful tolling of church bells, the caisson rolled up Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House along the historic route the young president traveled after his inauguration less than three years ago.

As the caisson turned the corner by the Treasury Building a woman broke into a high pitched wail, saying: "President Kennedy is gone. Oh Lord, Lord." She kept up her cry but the words trailed off and soon were indistinguishable.

At the White House, Mrs. Kennedy and the two Kennedy brothers left their limousine while the caisson paused for a few minutes at the north portico.

As bagpipes played, the procession moved slowly from the executive mansion and the mourners began an eight-block walk to St. Matthews Roman Catholic Cathedral.

With her head held high and her black veil draping her face, she walked with the Kennedy brothers at her side. President and Mrs. Johnson, next in line, were surrounded by secret service men.

Ruby closed his club, the Carousel, Friday night. It was reported last night at 7 PM, with the owner held in jail without bond, the Carousel was swinging.

Only a handful of relatives watched Oswald's inexpensive coffin lowered into the grave in Ft. Worth. They were his mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald; his two daughters, 22; their two small daughters, and his brother, Robert Oswald of Denton. They wept.

The Rev. Louis Saunders, executive secretary of the Ft. Worth Council of Churches, conducted the brief services, agreeing to do so when, apparently, no other minister would for the avowed Marxist, probable atheist.

Four hundred persons, police officers in sharply creased uniforms behind the small family, were admitted to the small Baptist church for Tippit's funeral. Outside another 1,000 stood silently in the warm November afternoon.

Tippit's widow, slender, blue eyes and brunet, with her three children, turned away at last, too.

"God, oh God!" she said. In his cell in county jail, Jack Ruby waited his trial. For him, too, District Attorney Henry Wade insisted, death waited.

John F. Kennedy, Jr., yesterday brought tears to the eyes of millions of television viewers when he saluted the flag draped over the casket of his father as it moved slowly from the St. Matthews Cathedral to the Arlington National Cemetery.

But shortly before midnight she slipped out of the White House and rode through the darkness to place a sprig of flowers on her husband's new grave.

It flickered on the silent hillside during her brief visit. Her brother in law, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, was at her side. Only hours earlier, world dignitaries crowded the area during rites for the fallen leader.

Some of Mrs. Kennedy's plans for the new way of life she must seek for herself and her two children may be made known soon.

Among the foremost questions are how long she will remain at the White House, where she will make her new home and what will become of the White House school she set up for daughter Caroline.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, who will be in the city for the funeral, is expected to arrive in Washington on Saturday.

Officers of the general services administration found no one on the red tiled roof. But Officer David M. Randall said he had seen a man with what looked like a weapon yesterday from a tower of the adjacent old postoffice building.

The search apparently began when an IRS telephone operator called with a report someone had telephoned that a man had been seen on the roof.

The search centered on a

ing.

President Lyndon B. Johnson's address to a joint session of congress will be carried live tomorrow at 9:30 AM on television station KCRW, channel 3, and on radio station KFRB.

She married him in 1953, when he was a young senator from Massachusetts. And when Kennedy became president in 1961, Mrs. Kennedy played as the wife of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

See Lonely Trip, Page A3.

Today's Temperatures

8 AM	42
9 AM	46
10 AM	50
11 AM	56
12 Noon	57
1 PM	60

In 24 hour period ended at 5:30 AM today, the maximum was 60, the minimum 41.

Forecast: Variable cloudiness.

Detailed report, page B13.

In The Bee Today

Amusements	B3
Boyle's Column	B6
Bridge By Sheinwald	A19
Business And Finance	B13
Cartoon	B20
Classified
Advertising	B15-19
Comics	B12
Crossword Puzzles	B12
Editorials	B20
Katherine Kitchen	A19
Letters From The People	B20
News Behind The News	B20
Pattern	A19
Politics By Rodda	A5
Questions And Answers	B20
Radio	B6
Sports	B8-11
Supervisor Callifornia
News	B1-4
Television	B7
TV Key Previews	B7
Vital Statistics	B15
Weather	B13
Women's Activities	A18-19

WASHINGTON — AP — The police raced to the roof of the seven story internal revenue service building in response to a report a man had been seen on the roof with a weapon.

The roof overlooks the justice department entrance used by Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the assassinated president.

Officers of the general services administration found no one on the red tiled roof. But Officer David M. Randall said he had seen a man with what looked like a weapon yesterday from a tower of the adjacent old postoffice building.

The search apparently began when an IRS telephone operator called with a report someone had telephoned that a man had been seen on the roof.

Man On Roof Report Sets Off DC Search

WASHINGTON — AP — The police raced to the roof of the seven story internal revenue service building in response to a report a man had been seen on the roof with a weapon.

The roof overlooks the justice department entrance used by Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the assassinated president.

Officers of the general services administration found no one on the red tiled roof. But Officer David M. Randall said he had seen a man with what looked like a weapon yesterday from a tower of the adjacent old postoffice building.

Johnson Orders Full Assassination Probe

WASHINGTON — AP — President Lyndon B. Johnson has ordered the federal bureau of investigation to prepare a detailed report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and that the people be told all the facts.

The report is to cover, too, the assassination of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused slayer of the late president.

Johnson, the White House said, has "directed all federal agencies to cooperate and the people of the nation may be sure that all of the facts will be made public."

Cuba Reveals It Denied Travel Visa To Oswald

HAVANA — UPI — The Cuban Foreign Ministry said today Lee H. Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, had requested a visa in September for travel to Cuba en route to the Soviet Union.

Oswald, who himself was slain Sunday by a Dallas, Tex., sniper's rifle bullet, made the night club owner, made the application to the Cuban consulate in Mexico City, but the visa was not granted.

It said that on being informed his visa request would be delayed for several days, Oswald quit the consulate in Mexico City and returned to the United States October 3rd.

Stock List Opens With Sharp Gains

NEW YORK — AP — The stock market launched a strong rally today upon reopening after being closed for the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Trading was heavy and the New York Stock Exchange finished 100 or more points higher.

Brokers reported a tremendous accumulation of orders to buy stocks.

Top News Inside

Johnson appeals to govern errors for civil rights bill, tax cut support, A3.

Rocky, Barry will hold off on politics, A5.

Berlin pays final tribute as freedom bell tolls A12.

1963 Traffic Record

City	County
Deaths	Deaths
This Year:	This Year:
48	66

A Year Ago: A Year Ago: 35 65

Let Horse Sense Govern Horse Power.

Today's Chuckle

Many Americans feel that living within their incomes is a fate worse than debt.

Many Americans feel that living within their incomes is a fate worse than debt.